

Story of Success

Too much demand was levied on me to cut a footpath for success through the Translation Diploma. I left no stone unturned in search of the possible methods to adopt for the preparation stage. Apart from the translation tools I had to get, the emotional side regarding the Diploma was a nagging issue. I knew from the beginning that a total integration into the courses and the group was necessary. It took me some time.

What is more, my family played a major role by giving me the time and the freedom I needed to attend the classes, and the financial support to help me finish the one-year diploma successfully. Their supportive stance with me in times of stress and fatigue was noticeable and worthy of praise. I will always be grateful to all my family members for their help.

Moreover, I cannot forget the nights I spent reading my books and doing the assignments. It was not easy to find time for all that. This is why I planned my days carefully and minutely so that no clash would take place between my work and my study. Accordingly, I used to give in my homework on time and reach the classroom punctually. This conduct helped me win the favor of my teachers.

This carries me to the point that shows my innermost gratitude to my teachers. They all proved professional and dedicated to the courses they were teaching. Moreover, they spared no pains to give us all what we needed to successfully pass the tests and make progress in our academic and vocational fields. Nothing of my praise can actually give them what they deserve. I will always remember them for their faithful performance and honest attitude towards their students.

Finally, the success in the diploma is mirrored in my work. I am now more confident and knowledgeable. I feel now I am different in translation. The diploma is responsible for securing me a good job in translation. This job has added to my personality and my experiences. Accordingly, my life is better and brighter thanks to all what I have mentioned above.
